Re: Toro v. Dean & Tyler, Inc.
Case No. 23-cv-6879 (JGLC) (JW)

Dear Judge Clarke:

We represent defendant Dean & Tyler, Inc., in the above-referenced ADA website accessibility case, and write to request that tomorrow's in-person case management conference — which was originally set for October 24, and which Your Honor then adjourned at our request — be either adjourned or converted to a telephonic conference. The reason for our request is that, because we were closed last week for religious observance and had to adjourn other conferences, we have several other matters tomorrow afternoon that make it logistically impossible for us to be in the Southern District in person tomorrow afternoon.

We apologize for the last minute nature of this request, but because of our office's closure last week, we therefore did not see the Court's Order resetting the conference for tomorrow until we returned to the office today.

We would respectfully point out to the Court that — as per the status letter filed by the parties on October 23 — there are no discovery disputes at this time, and expert discovery in this matter is set to close on November 25; as such it might be more efficient to hold this conference in a month after expert discovery has closed.

We thank the Court for its attention to this matter. We are available at Your Honor's convenience should the Court have any questions regarding the foregoing.

Respectfully submitted,
